JOSEPH'S LIBERATION AND RISE TO POWER (41:1–56)

Dreams, the cause of Joseph's misfortunes, become the means of his rise to power.

PHARAOH'S DREAMS (vv. 1–8)

1. After two years' time Literally, "at the end of two years of days." Two complete years have elapsed since the release of the cupbearer.

the Nile A fateful setting for Pharaoh's dream. The river was the lifeline of Egypt, the fountainhead of its entire economy.

2. seven cows Cows were abundant in Egypt and important to the economy. The motif of seven cows is found in Egyptian paintings and texts.

3. close behind them That is, in time.

5. on a single stalk A clear symbol of abundance.

CHAPTER 41

This parashah is almost always read during the week of Hanukkah. Although that is only a coincidence of the calendar, we can find thematic connections. Just as Hanukkah celebrates the victory of the weak over the powerful, the parashah begins with Pharaoh's dream of the lean cows conquering the well-fed ones. As the parashah begins with Joseph in prison and ends with Joseph as ruler, the story of Hanukkah begins with Israel oppressed and ends with Israel triumphant and independent.

1. standing by the Nile The literal meaning is "over the Nile." This prompted the Rabbinic comment that Jews see themselves as subservient to God and dependent on God, whereas idolaters see themselves as superior to their gods. (The Nile was a god to the Egyptians, source of life and food.) Judaism teaches us how to serve God. Pagan religions teach their followers how to use and manipulate their gods (Gen. R. 89:4).

4. This must be every tyrant's nightmare, that one day the weak will rise up and overthrow the powerful.

5ff. One of the lessons of the Joseph story, reinforced by its being read as autumn gives way to winter, is that life is cyclical. Good years are followed by lean years, adversity is followed by success, rejection yields to connection, winter gives way to spring and summer, only to return again. "What can be learned from this parashah to prepare ourselves in good days, days in which holiness is revealed, to set the light in our hearts, to be there in times when holiness seems far off?" The author of S'fat Emet answers his own question: We must store up resources of faith, even as the Egyptians stored grain, to nourish us spiritually when events turn against us.

single stalk. ⁶But close behind them sprouted seven ears, thin and scorched by the east wind. ⁷And the thin ears swallowed up the seven solid and full ears. Then Pharaoh awoke: it was a dream!

⁸Next morning, his spirit was agitated, and he sent for all the magicians of Egypt, and all its wise men; and Pharaoh told them his dreams, but none could interpret them for Pharaoh.

⁹The chief cupbearer then spoke up and said to Pharaoh, "I must make mention today of my offenses. ¹⁰Once Pharaoh was angry with his servants, and placed me in custody in the house of the chief steward, together with the chief baker. ¹¹We had dreams the same night, he and I, each of us a dream with a meaning of its own. ¹²A Hebrew youth was there with us, a servant of the chief steward; and when we told him our dreams, he interpreted them for us, telling each of the meaning of his dream. ¹³And as he interpreted for us, so it came to pass: I was restored to my post, and the other was impaled."

6. scorched by the east wind This is the sir-occo that blows in from the desert.

7. it was a dream This was much to Pharaoh's surprise, for it all seemed so vivid.

8. his spirit was agitated Apparently, Pharaoh spent a sleepless night after his dreams, anxiously awaiting the dawn.

magicians Magic was a feature of Egyptian life. Although Israel shared with its pagan neighbors a belief in the reality of dreams as a medium of divine communication, it never developed a class of magicians or dream interpreters, as Egypt and Mesopotamia did.

wise men This is a translation of hakhamim, the first use of the stem חכם in the Bible. Here the term refers to those who possessed specialized knowledge and skill in the magic arts.

none could interpret them for Pharaoh It is inconceivable that the professional dream interpreters were unable to provide any interpretations. Their interpretations, however, did not satisfy the king in a manner that he found convincing.

THE CUPBEARER REMEMBERS JOSEPH (vv. 9–13)

9. I must make mention The stem of the word for "making mention" (mazkir) is used by Joseph in his plea in 40:14 and by the narrator in reporting the ingratitude of the cupbearer in 40:23. The use of the same verbal root in both incidents is intended to draw our attention to the relationship between the two.

of my offenses Against Pharaoh and against Joseph.

12. A Hebrew youth The cupbearer stops short of recommending that Joseph, a servant, be brought to Pharaoh.

12. The chief cupbearer tries to justify his forgetfulness by emphasizing Joseph's unworthiness, describing him as a youth, a foreigner, and a servant.

¹⁴Thereupon Pharaoh sent for Joseph, and he was rushed from the dungeon. He had his hair cut and changed his clothes, and he appeared before Pharaoh. ¹⁵And Pharaoh said to Joseph, “I have had a dream, but no one can interpret it. Now I have heard it said of you that for you to hear a dream is to tell its meaning.” ¹⁶Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying, “Not I! God will see to Pharaoh’s welfare.”

¹⁷Then Pharaoh said to Joseph, “In my dream, I was standing on the bank of the Nile, ¹⁸when out of the Nile came up seven sturdy and well-formed cows and grazed in the reed grass. ¹⁹Presently there followed them seven other cows, scrawny, ill-formed, and emaciated—never had I seen their likes for ugliness in all the land of Egypt! ²⁰And the seven lean and ugly cows ate up the first seven cows, the sturdy ones; ²¹but when they had consumed them, one could not tell that they had consumed them, for they looked just as bad as before. And I awoke. ²²In my other dream, I

(vv. 14–32)

14. he was rushed The verbs in this verse indicate a series of actions performed in swift succession in the atmosphere of urgency created when Pharaoh’s wishes are to be satisfied.

his hair cut The verb meaning “to shave” (גלח) applies to both the head and the face. Egyptian men shaved both areas.

his clothes Clothes have consistently been a key element in Joseph’s misfortunes. This change of clothing marks the beginning of his liberation.

for you to bear a dream Pharaoh believes that Joseph is endowed with magical power.

16. God will see Joseph is saying, in effect, “God will respond to me and grant Pharaoh’s welfare.” He is certain that the sudden turn of events that has brought him into the presence of Pharaoh is providential for him. And he believes that he will receive a dream interpretation from God that will satisfy Pharaoh entirely.

17. Then Pharaoh said The repetition of the dreams to Joseph contains differences from the original narration. Such variations between an initial version and a repeat of it are a recurring feature of biblical discourse.

19. never had I seen This previously unstated personal observation points to the real meaning of the dream.

21. but when This entire verse is not in Pharaoh’s original narrative. Here, it directs attention to the key element (see vv. 30ff.).

22. In my other dream Significantly, the phrase (v. 5) “a second time” is omitted, as though Pharaoh himself realized that the two dreams are really one.

14. Joseph, who twice was stripped of his clothes and thrown into a pit, is twice (here saw seven ears of grain, full and healthy, growing on a single stalk; ²³but right behind them sprouted seven ears, shriveled, thin, and scorched by the east wind. ²⁴And the thin ears swallowed the seven healthy ears. I have told my magicians, but none has an explanation for me.”

²⁵And Joseph said to Pharaoh, “Pharaoh’s dreams are one and the same: God has told Pharaoh what He is about to do. ²⁶The seven healthy cows are seven years, and the seven healthy ears are seven years; it is the same dream. ²⁷The seven lean and ugly cows that followed are seven years, as are also the seven empty ears scorched by the east wind; they are seven years of famine. ²⁸It is just as I have told Pharaoh: God has revealed to Pharaoh what He is about to do. ²⁹Immediately ahead are seven years of great abundance in all the land of Egypt. ³⁰After them will come seven years of famine, and all the abundance in the land of Egypt will be forgotten. As the land is ravaged by famine, ³¹no trace of the abundance will be left in the land because of the famine thereafter, for it will be very severe. ³²As for Pharaoh having had the same dream twice, it means that the matter has been determined by God, and that God will soon carry it out.

³³“Accordingly, let Pharaoh find a man of ³⁷The plan pleased Pharaoh and all his courtiers. ³⁸And Pharaoh said to his courtiers, "Could we find another like him, a man in whom is the spirit of God?" ³⁹So Pharaoh said to Joseph, "Since God has made all this known to you, there is none so discerning and wise as you. ⁴⁰You shall be in charge of my court, and by your command shall all my people be directed; only with respect to the throne shall I be superior to you." ⁴¹Pharaoh further said to Joseph, "See, I put you in charge of all the land of Egypt." ⁴²And removing his signet ring from not as part of the dream message but as a personal suggestion.

34. let Pharaoh Not wishing to raise any suspicion that he is suggesting the creation of a new focus of power, Joseph repeatedly emphasizes "Pharaoh," thereby stressing the ubiquitous, omniscient, and omnipotent nature of the king in ancient Egypt.

35. good years Joseph sensibly suggests that grain be stockpiled during the plentiful years against the forthcoming years of famine.

JOSEPH'S APPOINTMENT AS VIZIER

(vv. 37–46)

37. The plan pleased Pharaoh Pharaoh and his courtiers are impressed by Joseph's perception that the two dreams are actually one, by his relating them to national affairs rather than to the king's personal interests, and by the social concern that he displays in his advice.

38. Could we find Pharaoh's question to his courtiers is rhetorical. He knows at once what he must do.

in whom is the spirit of God This is the first biblical mention of an individual so endowed. Possession of the "spirit of God" impels one to undertake a mission (Num. 27:18), imparts extraordinary energy and drive (Judg. 3:10, 11:29), and produces uncommon intelligence and practical wisdom.

39. discerning and wise Pharaoh repeats Joseph's own words (v. 33).

40. in charge of my court This function probably refers to the position of "overseer of the domain of the palace," one of the known Egyptian bureaucratic titles. Most likely, Joseph is given control over the king's personal estates.

41. Pharaoh further said Joseph does not utter a word in response to Pharaoh's announcement.

in charge of all the land The function reflects the Egyptian title "chief of the entire land."

42. removing Pharaoh now performs a series of ceremonial acts that confirm Joseph's position as "grand vizier of Egypt."

⁴⁴Pharaoh said to Joseph, "I am Pharaoh; yet without you, no one shall lift up hand or foot in all the land of Egypt." ⁴⁵Pharaoh then gave Joseph the name Zaphenath-paneah; and he gave him for a wife Asenath daughter of Poti-pha, priest of On. Thus Joseph emerged in enables the new official to validate documents in the king's name. The title "royal seal bearer" was well known in ancient Egypt.

fine linen The term translated as "fine linen" (shesh) is an Egyptian loan word for cloth of exceptional quality.

a gold chain The giving of a gold chain was one of the highest distinctions the king could bestow upon his favorites.

43. chariot This is the first reference to a chariot in the Bible. The Hyksos invasion of Egypt in the 18th century B.C.E. introduced the chariot to that country as an instrument of warfare.

45. gave Joseph the name The change of name signifies a new identity and a fresh start in life. The king probably wanted to "Egyptianize" the name Joseph.

Zaphenath-paneah The Egyptian words mean "God speaks; he lives," or "the creator/sustainer of life." During this period in Egypt, it was not unusual for foreigners, and Semites in particular, to be welcomed by the court and to rise to positions of responsibility and power in the government.

Asenath The Egyptian name means "she who belongs to (the goddess) Neith."

Poti-pha See Comment to 37:36.

45. Is Poti-pha identical with Potiphar, whom Joseph served in chapter 39? The Talmud thinks he is and understands his giving his daughter to Joseph in marriage as an acknowledgment that Joseph was innocent of the charge brought against him (BT Sot. 13b).

A Rabbinic legend identifies Asenath as the daughter who was born to Dinah, Jacob's daughter, after she had been violated by Shechem (Gen. 34). Subsequently, she was adopted by the childless Potiphar. Thus Joseph, like the other Patriarchs, marries a relative.

HALAKHAH L'MA-ASEH

41:45 the name This is the first instance in Jewish tradition of having more than one name, one of them Hebrew. For purposes of religious honors (such as an aliyah to the Torah) and religious documents (such as for marriage and divorce), one is identified by one's Hebrew name, the son or daughter of (ben or bat) one's father's Hebrew name. In prayers for the ill, one is traditionally identified by one's mother's name. Conservative practice increasingly uses both the mother's and father's Hebrew names in all circumstances, as an expression of honoring both parents in accordance with the Decalogue (see Exod. 20:12).

charge of the land of Egypt.—⁴⁶Joseph was thirty years old when he entered the service of Pharaoh king of Egypt.—Leaving Pharaoh’s presence, Joseph traveled through all the land of Egypt.

⁴⁷During the seven years of plenty, the land produced in abundance. ⁴⁸And he gathered all the grain of the seven years that the land of Egypt was enjoying, and stored the grain in the cities; he put in each city the grain of the fields around it. ⁴⁹So Joseph collected produce in very large quantity, like the sands of the sea, until he ceased to measure it, for it could not be measured.

⁵⁰Before the years of famine came, Joseph became the father of two sons, whom Asenath daughter of Poti-phaera, priest of On, bore to him. ⁵¹Joseph named the first-born Manasseh,

THE SEVEN YEARS OF PLENTY (vv. 47–49)

47. in abundance The word translated as

“in abundance” (likmatzim) means, literally, “by handfuls,” i.e., “bumper crops.”

48. he gathered all the grain From Joseph’s activities it is clear that he holds the well-known Egyptian office of “overseer of the granaries of Upper and Lower Egypt,” whose duties included the collection of tax payments on field produce, the storage of an adequate supply of food in years of plenty, and the distribution of food during years of famine. He was, in effect, minister of agriculture.

JOSEPH’S TWO SONS (vv. 50–52)

50. years Literally, “year.” The sons were born either before the first year of the famine or before the year when its effect first became severe—i.e., toward the end of the famine’s second year, when the migration of Jacob and his family took place.

50. Before the years of famine came Once the famine arrived, however, people stopped having children, so as not to have additional mouths to feed (BT Ta-an. 11a).

51. By calling his first son Manasseh, Joseph is not saying that he has forgotten the circumstances of his coming to Egypt. He is saying that he remembers them but that the memory no longer oppresses him.

meaning, “God has made me forget completely my hardship and my parental home.”⁵² And the second he named Ephraim, meaning, “God has made me fertile in the land of my affliction.”

⁵³The seven years of abundance that the land of Egypt enjoyed came to an end, ⁵⁴and the seven years of famine set in, just as Joseph had foretold. There was famine in all lands, but throughout the land of Egypt there was bread. ⁵⁵And when all the land of Egypt felt the hunger, the people cried out to Pharaoh for bread; and Pharaoh said to all the Egyptians, “Go to Joseph; whatever he tells you, you shall do.”—⁵⁶Accordingly, when the famine became severe in the land of Egypt, Joseph laid open all that was within, and rationed out grain to the Egyptians. The famine, however, spread over the whole world. ⁵⁷So all the world came to Joseph in Egypt to procure rations, for the famine had become severe throughout the world.

Either meaning would suitably describe the future territory of the tribe bearing this name, which was located in the central region of the Land of Israel and blessed with good soil and rainfall.

THE ONSET OF FAMINE (vv. 53–57)

The entire agricultural economy of Lower Egypt, the northern, virtually rainless area of the country, has always depended on the Nile floods caused by the river’s periodic rise during three summer months. There are years when the rains in the southern Sudan are insufficient. A shortfall of only a few inches could bring famine to Egypt. This phenomenon and the motif of seven-year famines are well documented in Egyptian and other Near Eastern texts.

54. in all lands In actuality, there could not be any natural connection between the famine in Egypt and that in neighboring countries. The situation in Canaan resulted from a prolonged lack of rainfall that had nothing to do with the failure of the Nile to rise.

55. Go to Joseph This verse, which anticipates the next episode, explains why the brothers have to appear in person before Joseph (v. 57).

56. Accordingly For the sake of clarity and for continuity with verse 55, the translation inverts the order of the Hebrew clauses.

within The Hebrew word ba-hem, literally, “in them,” has no antecedent. The ancient versions variously rendered “all the granaries,” “all the granaries in which was grain,” and “everything in which was grain.” These either reflect a different text or are attempts to interpret the difficult Hebrew.

over the whole world Literally, “over all the face of the land.”

42 When Jacob saw that there were food rations to be had in Egypt, he said to his sons, “Why do you keep looking at one another? ²Now I hear,” he went on, “that there are rations to be had in Egypt. Go down and procure rations for us there, that we may live and not die.” ³So ten of Joseph’s brothers went down to get grain rations in Egypt; ⁴for Jacob did not send Joseph’s brother Benjamin with his brothers, since he feared that he might meet with disaster. ⁵Thus the sons of Israel were among those who came to procure rations, for the famine extended to the land of Canaan. ⁶Now Joseph was the vizier of the land; it was

JOSEPH AND HIS BROTHERS—ONCE AGAIN (42:1–38)

Joseph, having reached a time in his life when he no longer wishes to be reminded of his past, suddenly finds himself once again face to face with his brothers.

THE BROTHERS’ JOURNEY TO EGYPT (vv. 1–5)

2. Go down and procure rations The old Patriarch once again exercises authority and initiative in a critical situation.

3. ten of Joseph’s brothers Not “Joseph’s 10 brothers,” because there were 11 in all. The rations in Egypt must have been available on a limited per capita basis, so that the presence and services of all 10 were needed to purchase and transport sufficient supplies for their large households. Reasons of security may also have dictated the need to travel as a convoy on the journey, which lasted one week each way.

CHAPTER 42

1. The availability of food in Egypt sets in motion a series of events that will bring Joseph’s family to Egypt, where they will be reunited with him. There they will prosper at first, before being reduced to slavery.

5. sons of Israel This is a turning point—the first time that Jacob’s sons are referred to as b’nei Yisra-el. In Exodus, the same term comes to mean “Israelites” (see Exod. 1:7,9).

6ff. The purpose of Joseph’s elaborate ruse is not to torment or embarrass his brothers but to see whether they indeed had changed. Repentance (t’shuvah) is more than regret. It includes finding oneself in a similar situation and responding differently. Joseph needs to know whether the brothers will leave Simeon and/or he who dispensed rations to all the people of the land. And Joseph's brothers came and bowed low to him, with their faces to the ground. ⁷When Joseph saw his brothers, he recognized them; but he acted like a stranger toward them and spoke harshly to them. He asked them, "Where do you come from?" And they said, "From the land of Canaan, to procure food." ⁸For though Joseph recognized his brothers, they did not recognize him. ⁹Recalling the dreams that he had dreamed about them, Joseph said to them, "You are spies, you have come to see the land in its nakedness." ¹⁰But they said to him, "No, my lord! Truly, your servants have come to procure food. ¹¹We are all of us sons of the same man; we are honest men; your servants have never been spies!" ¹²And he said to them, "No, you have come to see the land in its nakedness!" ¹³And they replied, "We your servants were twelve brothers, sons of a certain man in the land of they did not recognize him It has been more than two decades since they last saw Joseph. He has developed into mature manhood. In addition, his language, his dress, his position, and his name have become Egyptianized.

9. Recalling the dreams The sight of his brothers prostrating themselves before him suddenly reminds Joseph of those long-forgotten dreams, and he realizes that they actually had presaged his future. At the same time, recalling how deeply his brothers hated him, he feels that he must find out conclusively whether or not they regret their actions.

Else, by Pharaoh, you are nothing but spies!”¹⁷ And he confined them in the guardhouse for three days.

¹⁸On the third day Joseph said to them, “Do this and you shall live, for I am a God-fearing man.¹⁹ If you are honest men, let one of you brothers be held in your place of detention, while the rest of you go and take home rations for your starving households;²⁰ but you must bring me your youngest brother, that your words may be verified and that you may not die.” And they did accordingly.²¹ They said to one another, “Alas, we are being punished on

13. one is no more The phrasing either reflects their uncertainty as to Joseph’s fate or is a delicate way of saying that he was dead.

14. It is just as I have told you In a show of despotic arbitrariness, Joseph imperiously rejects their defense. The burden of disproof is on the brothers.

15. by Pharaoh Literally, “the life of Pharaoh.” This phrase gives the following statement the character of an oath, validated and sanctioned by the awesome power of the king. It was common practice in the ancient world to swear by the life of the king. Israelites also swore by God.

16. Let one of you go This is the first of the tests Joseph imposes. How would they endure the strain of imprisonment? What rivalries would surface as a result of their awareness that only one would return to Canaan and that the fate of the others depended on that one?

THE SECOND ENCOUNTER WITH JOSEPH (vv. 18–26)

18. On the third day Had Joseph intended only a three-day imprisonment, or does he now change his mind? If the latter, then he must have become aware of the terrible, perhaps fatal suffering that he would be inflicting on his father by detaining nine of the brothers. Furthermore, how would the starving families back home obtain food?

a God-fearing man Fear of God is the ultimate restraint on treachery.

Now comes the reckoning for his blood.”²³ They did not know that Joseph understood, for there was an interpreter between him and them.²⁴ He turned away from them and wept. But he came back to them and spoke to them; and he took Simeon from among them and had him bound before their eyes.²⁵ Then Joseph gave orders to fill their bags with grain, return each one’s money to his sack, and give them provisions for the journey; and this was done for them.²⁶ So they loaded their asses with the rations and departed from there.

²⁷As one of them was opening his sack to give feed to his ass at the night encampment, he saw his money right there at the mouth of his bag.²⁸ And he said to his brothers, “My money has been returned! It is here in my bag!” Their ashem (the singular of the adjective ashemim, translated as “we are being punished”) can mean both guilt and its consequent punishment (Ps. 34:22), for the two are inseparable in Israelite thought. In this moment of common adversity, the brothers’ tortured consciences suddenly erupt.

I will then restore your brother to you, and you shall be free to move about in the land.’”

³⁵As they were emptying their sacks, there, in each one’s sack, was his money-bag! When they and their father saw their money-bags, they were dismayed. ³⁶Their father Jacob said to them, “It is always me that you bereave: Joseph is no more and Simeon is no more, and now you would take away Benjamin. Put him in my care, and I will return him to you.”³⁸ But he said, “My son must not go down with you, for his brother is dead and he alone is left. If he meets with disaster on the journey you are taking, you will send my white head down to Sheol in grief.”

43 But the famine in the land was severe.² And when they had eaten up the rations which they had brought from Egypt, their father said to them, “Go again and procure some food for us.”³ But Judah said to him, “The man warned us, ‘Do not let me see your faces unless your brother is with you.’⁴ If you will let our brother go with us, we will go down and procure food for you;⁵ but if you will not let him go, we will not go down, for the man said to us, ‘Do not let me see your faces unless your brother is with you.’”⁶ And Israel said, “Why did you serve me so ill as to tell the man that you had another brother?”⁷ They replied, “But the man kept disaster on the journey Reuben's self-confidence leaves Jacob unimpressed. Deeply concerned about the perils of the journey, Jacob does not see that Reuben is trying to assure him of an ultimate positive outcome—that the vice-roy of Egypt will keep his promise.

THE SECOND JOURNEY TO EGYPT (43:1–34)

Jacob rejects Reuben's plea and offer. But the brothers know that the fear of starvation will ultimately overcome their father's resistance.

2. when they had eaten up There remains only food enough to enable their families to survive while the brothers travel to Egypt and back.

3. Judah He is the spokesman from now on. Reuben is not heard from again, even though he is the firstborn. The incident described in 35:22 shows that he has lost his position of honor in the family.

The man Abbreviated from “the man who is lord of the land” (42:30,33). Joseph is henceforth called “the man,” while the brothers are correspondingly termed “the men.” This is an artful device of the narrator as events move toward the climactic moment when Joseph discloses his true identity to his brothers.

7. They replied The report the brothers now give to their father does not correspond to the account of the interrogation in chapter 42, when the brothers seemed to offer unsolicited information about themselves quite freely (vv. 11,13). However, from 44:19 it is clear that Jo-asking about us and our family, saying, ‘Is your father still living? Have you another brother?’ And we answered him accordingly. How were we to know that he would say, ‘Bring your brother here?’”

⁸Then Judah said to his father Israel, “Send the boy in my care, and let us be on our way, that we may live and not die—you and we and our children. ⁹I myself will be surety for him; you may hold me responsible: if I do not bring him back to you and set him before you, I shall stand guilty before you forever. ¹⁰For we could have been there and back twice if we had not dawdled.”

¹¹Then their father Israel said to them, “If it must be so, do this: take some of the choice products of the land in your baggage, and carry them down as a gift for the man—some balm our family The word moledet is used here in the sense of “kindred.”

8. Then Judah said The argument has reached a dead end. Judah steps in to save the situation.

you and we and our children In Hebrew, the order is “we and you and our children.” Judah lists them in ascending order of importance to himself.

the boy The word na-ar can be used of any male from infancy (Exod. 2:6) to marriageable age (Gen. 34:19). The probability of Benjamin’s youthfulness accords with, and renders especially poignant, Jacob’s fears and reluctance to let him undertake the journey to Egypt.

9. I myself Meaning, “I personally.”

be surety The Hebrew stem ערב most frequently refers to the acceptance of legal responsibility for a debt contracted by another. The guarantor undertakes to ensure that the borrower will not disappear or to repay the loan should the borrower default.

do this The Egyptian vizier must be placated with a gift, and the payments for the grain are to be returned.

choice products of the land The noun zim-rab in this verse, derived from a similar word in Ugaritic, corresponds to ko-ah (strength), which also is used in the sense of “yield, produce” (Gen. 4:12; Hos. 7:9; Job 31:39).

gift The word minhab signifies a gift brought as a token of submission.

honey Biblical d’vash refers to the thick, intensely sweet syrup made from dates and grapes or figs and is called dibs by the Arabs.

CHAPTER 43

8. Reuben had spoken rashly and foolishly to Jacob (42:37—Why would Jacob want to kill his own grandchildren?). Judah, who had himself experienced the loss of two children (Gen. 38:6–10), is now able to speak convincingly to Jacob’s heart.

and some honey, gum, ladanum, pistachio nuts, and almonds. ¹²And take with you double the money, carrying back with you the money that was replaced in the mouths of your bags; perhaps it was a mistake. ¹³Take your brother too; and go back at once to the man. ¹⁴And may El Shaddai dispose the man to mercy toward you, that he may release to you your other brother, as well as Benjamin. As for me, if I am to be bereaved, I shall be bereaved.”

¹⁵So the men took that gift, and they took with them double the money, as well as Benjamin. They made their way down to Egypt, where they presented themselves to Joseph. ¹⁶When Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he said to his house steward, “Take the men into the house; slaughter and prepare an animal, for the men will dine with me at noon.” ¹⁷The man did as Joseph said, and he brought the men into Joseph’s house. ¹⁸But the men were frightened at being brought into Joseph’s house. “It must be,” they thought, “because of the money replaced in our bags the first time that we have been brought inside, as a pretext to attack us and seize us as slaves, with our pack animals.” ¹⁹So they went up to Joseph’s house steward and spoke to him at the entrance of the house. ²⁰“If you please, my lord,” they said, “we came down once before to procure food. ²¹But when a mistake Jacob appears to be trying to convince himself that the return of the money by the Egyptians has no sinister motives.

12. double the money The second clause of this verse clarifies the reason for the double amount. One part is for the purchase of food; the other is to return the sum of money placed in their bags.

13. Take your brother The aged patriarch leaves the most painful matter till the end. His use of the words “your brother,” rather than Benjamin, appears to emphasize their fraternal responsibilities.

14. As for me Having done all that is humanly possible, Jacob now leaves the rest to God, whose blessing he invokes.

if I am to be bereaved Jacob’s words opened (v. 11) and now close on a note of sorrowful resignation.

I got your payment.” And he brought out Simeon to them.

²⁴Then the man brought the men into Joseph's house; he gave them water to bathe their feet, and he provided feed for their asses.²⁵ They laid out their gifts to await Joseph's arrival at noon, for they had heard that they were to dine there.

21. in full Literally, “by its weight.”

23. All is well This reassurance on the part of the steward is intelligible only if it is assumed that he is privy to Joseph's scheme. His purpose is to lull them into a false sense of security, bolstered by the release of Simeon.

I got your payment Literally, “your money came to me,” a legal formula used by ancient Near Eastern traders to confirm receipt of full payment and implying renunciation of any claim.

27. your aged father The adjective was not reported in the account of the brothers' first meeting with Joseph, but 44:20 shows that it had indeed been used.

28. bowed and made obeisance Either as a sign of appreciation to Joseph for his solicitude in asking about their father's welfare or as a gesture of gratitude to God, a physical equivalent of the verbal “Thank God.”

23. Your God, the God of your father, must have put treasure Joseph has taught the steward and his other servants to see the hand of God in life's unexpected blessings.

HALAKHAH L'MA-ASEH

43:27 How is your aged father Asking about a person's well-being became an expected norm in rabbinic Judaism, both as an act of friendship and as a way of knowing when to fulfill the commandment of visiting the sick (bikkur holim) (BT Ned. 39b–40a). We also recite the Mi she-Berakh prayer for the sick in the synagogue, in part to beseech God's aid in healing and in part to notify the congregation of who is ill and in need of the support of the community.

good health.” And they bowed and made obeisance.

²⁹Looking about, he saw his brother Benjamin, his mother’s son, and asked, “Is this your youngest brother of whom you spoke to me?” And he went on, “May God be gracious to you, my boy.” ³⁰With that, Joseph hurried out, for he was overcome with feeling toward his brother and was on the verge of tears; he went into a room and wept there. ³¹Then he washed his face, reappeared, and—now in control of himself—gave the order, “Serve the meal.” ³²They served him by himself, and them by themselves, and the Egyptians who ate with him by themselves; for the Egyptians could not dine with the Hebrews, since that would be abhorrent to the Egyptians. ³³As they were seated by his direction, from the oldest in the order of his seniority to the youngest in the order of his youth, the men looked at one another in astonishment. ³⁴Portions were served them from his table; but Benjamin’s portion was several times that of anyone else. And they drank their fill with him.

30. overcome with feeling The sight of Benjamin arouses overwhelming tenderness and affection in Joseph. He can find relief only through tears.

31. Serve the meal Joseph hosts a meal for his brothers, who years before had callously sat down to eat while he languished in a pit.

32. They served him by himself Joseph eats alone because of his august status. The Hebrews were segregated because the Egyptians, believing themselves racially and religiously superior to all other peoples, were generally contemptuous of foreigners.

could not dine That is, were prohibited from dining.

33. were seated by his direction Literally, “they sat before him.” Saadia and Rashbam point out that the seating arrangement by descending order of seniority could only be at Joseph’s direction. This surprises the brothers. The Egyptians, too, are astonished that the vizier should invite foreigners—especially shepherds, an abhorrent profession (46:34)—to dine at his house.

34. several Literally, “five.” Joseph is perhaps testing his brothers to see whether this obvious favoritism would arouse their envy or expose any hostile feelings that they might harbor against the one who is now their father’s favorite and Joseph’s as well.

THE BROTHERS’ LAST TRIAL (44:1–34)

After their reception at Joseph’s house, the brothers set out on their homeward journey, undoubtedly in high spirits. Their light mood is shattered, however, as Joseph employs his final stratagem.

44 Then he instructed his house steward as follows, “Fill the men’s bags with food, as much as they can carry, and put each one’s money in the mouth of his bag. ²Put my silver goblet in the mouth of the bag of the youngest one, together with his money for the rations.” And he did as Joseph told him.

³With the first light of morning, the men were sent off with their pack animals. ⁴They had just left the city and had not gone far, when Joseph said to his steward, “Up, go after the men! And when you overtake them, say to them, ‘Why did you repay good with evil? ⁵It is the very one from which my master drinks and which he uses for divination. It was a wicked thing for you to do!’”

⁶He overtook them and spoke those words to them. ⁷And they said to him, “Why does my lord say such things? Far be it from your servants to do anything of the kind! ⁸Here we brought back to you from the land of Canaan the money that we found in the mouths of our bags. How then could we have stolen any silver or gold from your master’s house! ⁹Whichever

JOSEPH’S INSTRUCTIONS (vv. 1–5)

1. Then he instructed These preparations no doubt take place during the night while the brothers sleep.

Fill the men’s bags By supplying them in excess of what their money can buy, Joseph makes them appear all the more ungrateful when they are apprehended for alleged theft.

put each one’s money The restoration of their money this time is puzzling, because it plays no role in the accusation that is soon to be made against them.

2. goblet A “libation vessel” for wine, larger than an ordinary cup and used also as a receptacle for oil in the menorah of the Tabernacle. Here, the goblet serves both as a drinking vessel and as a divining instrument (v. 5).

3. the first light of morning This explains why Joseph is still at home when the brothers later return (v. 14).

4. the city The city is said to be situated “in the region of Goshen.” See Comment to 45:10.

repay good with evil In verse 50:20, Joseph tells his brothers that God used their evil intentions to good end.

5. It is the very one The one they saw him using at dinner. They cannot claim it is their own property.

he uses for divination It is not stated that Joseph actually believes in divination, but he wants the brothers to think he does.

THE STEWARD’S ACCUSATION AND SEARCH (vv. 6–12)

8. How then could we have stolen This inference from a minor premise (“Here”) to a major one (“How then”) is known in rabbinic terminology as kal va-homer. There are 10 instances of this type of reasoning in the Bible, listed in Gen. R. 92:7.

of your servants it is found with shall die; the rest of us, moreover, shall become slaves to my lord.”¹⁰ He replied, “Although what you are proposing is right, only the one with whom it is found shall be my slave; but the rest of you shall go free.”

¹¹So each one hastened to lower his bag to the ground, and each one opened his bag. ¹²He searched, beginning with the oldest and ending with the youngest; and the goblet turned up in Benjamin’s bag. ¹³At this they rent their clothes. Each reloaded his pack animal, and they returned to the city.

¹⁴When Judah and his brothers reentered the house of Joseph, who was still there, they threw themselves on the ground before him. ¹⁵Joseph said to them, “What is this deed that you have done? Do you not know that a man like me practices divination?” ¹⁶Judah replied,

“What can we say to my lord? How can we plead, how can we prove our innocence? God has uncovered the crime of your servants. Here we are, then, slaves of my lord, the rest of us as much as he in whose possession the goblet was found.”¹⁷ But he replied, “Far be it from me to act thus! Only he in whose possession the goblet was found shall be my slave; the rest of you go back in peace to your father.”

16. the crime of your servants Judah is perhaps falsely confessing collective guilt regarding the theft of the goblet to save Benjamin from being singled out for punishment. Alternatively, he is expressing the ancient belief that suffering is divine punishment for sin, even if the sin could not be identified, and his words are a resignation to misfortune. It also could be a veiled reference to their sale of Joseph.

Or they can remain with Benjamin, but they would then be unable to bring food to their father and their families, who would die of starvation.

HAFTARAH FOR MI-KETZ

1 KINGS 3:15–4:1

This haftarah, which takes place c. 965 B.C.E. at the start of King Solomon's reign, begins abruptly. "Then Solomon awoke: it was a dream" (3:15). This concludes the preceding account of his dream at Gibeon, in which the king requests and receives divine wisdom to judge the nation (3:5–14). Verse 15 continues with a transition that moves the action to Jerusalem, where the king performs an exemplary act of justice using his divinely inspired wisdom to determine a child's maternity.

RELATION OF THE HAFTARAH TO THE PARASHAH

Solomon's waking from a dream was undoubtedly chosen as the prologue here because the Hebrew verb used to open this passage (va-yiykatz) is the same one used to describe Pharaoh's waking from a dream at the outset of the parashah (Gen. 41:4). The importance of royal dreams for national and individual destiny further connects the two readings.

Each text leads to the public awareness of an individual gifted with divine wisdom. Pharaoh, after his dream, fruitlessly consults his court magicians for an interpretation, only to learn subsequently of "a Hebrew youth" with proven skill in dream interpretation. Joseph decodes the dream, much to Pharaoh's approval (Gen. 41:37), and the king exclaims to his courtiers that this is surely "a man in whom is the spirit of God" (ruah elohim, v. 38). In his direct praise of Joseph he declares, "there is none so discerning (navon) and wise (hakham) as you (kamokha)" (v. 39). In the haftarah, Solomon received in a dream God's promise of "a wise (hakham) and discerning (navon) mind," so exceptional that "there has never been anyone like you (kamokha) before," nor will there ever again be another as wise (1 Kings 3:12). This aptitude was demonstrated fully in his judgment of the two prostitutes, with the result that "all Israel" recognized that their king "possessed divine wisdom (hokhmat elohim) to execute justice" (v. 28).

Both Joseph and Solomon were blessed with divine wisdom and discernment, but each applied it to a different realm. Joseph decoded the hidden language of dreams. Solomon determined the truth claims of conflicting testimony.

3 ¹⁵Then Solomon awoke: it was a dream! He went to Jerusalem, stood before the Ark of the Covenant of the Lord, and sacrificed burnt offerings and presented offerings of well-being; and he made a banquet for all his courtiers.

י. 15. חסר י' בשורש

1 Kings 3:15. He went to Jerusalem The king returned to Jerusalem from Gibeon, an ancient site of worship where he had sacrificed and had received a divine revelation (3:4–14). Worship was not then centralized in Jerusalem.

¹⁶Later two prostitutes came to the king and stood before him. ¹⁷The first woman said, "Please, my lord! This woman and I live in the same house; and I gave birth to a child while she was in the house. ¹⁸On the third day after I was delivered, this woman also gave birth to a child. We were alone; there was no one else with us in the house, just the two of us in the house. ¹⁹During the night this woman's child died, because she lay on it. ²⁰She arose in the night and took my son from my side while your maidservant was asleep, and laid him in her bosom; and she laid her dead son in my bosom. ²¹When I arose in the morning to nurse my son, there he was, dead; but when I looked at him closely in the morning, it was not the son I had borne."

²²The other woman spoke up, "No, the live one is my son, and the dead one is yours!" But the first insisted, "No, the dead boy is yours; mine is the live one!" And they went on arguing before the king.

²³The king said, "One says, 'This is my son, the live one, and the dead one is yours'; and the other says, 'No, the dead boy is yours, mine is the live one.' ²⁴So the king gave the order, "Fetch me a sword." A sword was brought before the king, ²⁵and the king said, "Cut the live child in two, and give half to one and half to the other."

²⁶But the woman whose son was the live one pleaded with the king, for she was overcome with compassion for her son. "Please, my lord," she cried, "give her the live child; only don't kill it!" The other insisted, "It shall be neither yours nor mine; cut it in two!" ²⁷Then

16. and stood before him The text reveals features of legal protocol: (a) the claimants standing before the judge (v. 16), (b) the claim of the plaintiff (vv. 17–21), (c) the rebuttal by the defendant (v. 22), (d) the response of the plaintiff (v. 22), (e) the summary of arguments by the judge (v. 23), (f) the adjudication (here an ordeal, in the absence of witnesses, vv. 24–25), (g) the plea bargaining by the claimants (v. 26), and (h) the final settlement (v. 27). This is followed by a statement of the salutary effects of publicized justice (v. 28).

the king spoke up. “Give the live child to her,” he said, “and do not put it to death; she is its mother.”

²⁸When all Israel heard the decision that the king had rendered, they stood in awe of the king; for they saw that he possessed divine wisdom to execute justice.

4 ¹King Solomon was now king over all Israel.

27. she is its mother Solomon’s adjudication involves a psychological “ordeal” and attention to the mothers’ responses. According to a talmudic tradition, Solomon’s judgment (“Give the live child to her . . .” v. 27) was confirmed by a heavenly voice (bat kol) from the divine court (saying: “she is its mother,” v. 27).

28. divine wisdom Hebrew: hokhmat elohim. Solomon had a divine gift “to execute justice,” much as he also had divine wisdom for composing parables (1 Kings 5:9–13) and answering riddles (10:1–4). God’s gift of the spirit of wisdom” in judgment became a messianic ideal for Davidic kings (see Isa. 11:1–5).
