From the Rabbi's Desk

by Rabba Kaya Stern-Kaufman

Dear Friends,

Passover, our holiday that celebrates freedom, is on the horizon. It is replete with rituals and obligations that serve as metaphoric gateways from oppression to freedom. It is interesting to note that the Passover Haggadah begins the story of the Exodus from Egypt with a question: Mah nishtanah halailah hazeh mikol haleilot? - How is this night different from all other nights? As the seder rituals unfold, we discover that there are many answers to this simple question. In fact, the Haggadah itself proclaims that the more one discusses the story of the Exodus from Egypt, the more one is praiseworthy. In other words, the Passover seder celebrates and ritualizes the sharing of multiple viewpoints on a particular narrative. The seder is an invitation to dialogue.

While it is true that many of us have had the dry experience of reading through the Haggadah, word for word, with no wrestling with the text, the rabbis intended for the text to serve as a springboard for discussions about freedom and oppression. The Haggadah is full of examples of such dialogues, quoting various rabbis' interpretations of the Exodus story, and reporting the famous story of Rabbi Akiva and his friends who stayed up until the dawn discussing it. The Passover seder as envisioned by the rabbis who created it, was designed to bring families together, in multiple generations, to discuss oppression and freedom from their many points of view.

This year, when many families find themselves struggling with differing opinions, I would like to invite us all into the metaphoric Rabbinic Study Hall to ask questions, to listen attentively, and to express our ideas. In the words of Rabbi Shai Held, "understanding something as having multiple meanings is one of the deepest expressions of freedom." Let us consider this.

With blessings for a truly redemptive Pesach,
Rabba Kaya

Ritual Committee

Celebrate Passover - Together!

Passover is the most widely celebrated holiday in the Jewish calendar, and for good reason. It centers on the impressive story of our people's Exodus from Egypt, with thrilling moments (Moses pleading with Pharaoh, the ten plagues, the parting of the Red Sea), vivid characters (the Four Sons, Moses, Pharaoh), and lots of drama. It is also a table-centered holiday, focused on a big meal full of special foods that we eat only at this time of the year. It is multi-generational, with roles for children and adults. The seder is a social event that brings together family and friends to tell the story, discuss what it means, sing songs, and eat and drink. The Haggadah tells us, "Let all who are hungry, come and eat." One is to be inclusive and hospitable to the best of one's ability and ensure that everyone has a seder to attend.

Like most Jewish holidays, Passover has not only an historic component but also a seasonal one, coming just as spring is beginning to burst out. The parsley on our seder tables reminds us of the green shoots popping out of the earth at this time of year, a harbinger of new growth in the natural world. The egg on the seder plate is associated with the circle of life and with spring as a time of new birth.

On a spiritual level, Passover is a passage from a narrow place (mitzrayim) into freedom. It calls upon us to sweep away the crumbs of the past and begin anew, with fresh energy. The path from slavery to freedom is not an easy one, as the Israelites' wandering for forty years in the desert teaches us. It demands that we reach deep within to gather all of our resources so that we can meet the challenges of choice and self-determination in our individual lives and as a people. This Passover, Temple Israel will host a community seder led by Rabba Kaya on Tuesday, April 24, the second night of the holiday. Our Social Hall will be full, with family-style seating. This year, in addition to hand-painted seder plates, we will have Miriam's cups decorated by members of Sisterhood. All are invited to join us for this delicious catered meal – but preregistration is required! The deadline for registration is Monday, April 8. Please sign up today either on the website or by contacting the office.

As Pesach is a holiday that encourages us to welcome the stranger, we hope to match anyone local who has no seder to attend on the first night with those who can accommodate them. If you are holding a first night seder at your home and have room at the table for a guest or two, please let Heather know. And if you would like to join a seder in someone's home on the first night, let us know and we will do our best to find a place for you.

The final day of Passover features a Torah service with Yizkor. At Temple Israel, we follow the Israeli holiday calendar, so Passover is observed for seven days, ending at sunset on Monday, April 29. Please join us at morning services with Yizkor on Monday, April 29, starting at 10:00 am, to celebrate the end of our spring holiday together. Happy Pesach!

Terumah

by Rich LeSavoy, Treasurer

Why am I supporting our Terumah flexible approach to Temple Israel Membership?

Rich LeSavoy

I feel honored to be a member of New Hampshire's oldest continuous house of Jewish worship. I can picture the generations of Jews who worshiped here, educated their children here, celebrated here, and were comforted here in difficult times throughout our one hundred and fourteen-year history.

Over the years, so many people have contributed their time and energy as volunteers to keep the temple functioning, and many have given from their hearts financially to ensure that we remained secure. I feel a personal obligation to protect this legacy.

We know there are shifting demographics in our Jewish population. Jews are more diverse in their identities and how they experience Jewish life. We know synagogue affiliation is down. As a congregation, we need to meet the challenge of attracting new members, particularly young ones. We need to do this through innovative programming, creative marketing, and a flexible financial system that removes barriers to entry.

To make this new system work, those who can give more each year must do so. I am fortunate to have participated in the dues-plus program in recent years, but this year, I hope to provide even more support.

My motivation is to honor the generations before me and to ensure that our center of Jewish life on the Seacoast is preserved for my children and grandchildren. I urge all my always generous fellow congregants to join me and support our new initiative financially if you can, and through your continued involvement in operating our synagogue.

Thank you,
Richard LeSavoy, Treasurer

Endowment Committee

We're seeking new members! This committee meets four - six times yearly to oversee the investment and expenditure of monies from endowment funds. Your involvement in this important committee can help us shape our financial future. Financial experience is ideal; however, this can also be an investment management learning opportunity for an inexperienced but interested congregant.

Learn more about our endowment funds at <https://www.templeisraelnh.org/donate/#endowment>.

Hebrew School

by Erik Martin, Head of School

Israel, An Ancient Land, A Modern People

Our classes are hard at work as they learn about Israel! The students have been studying all things Israel from its geography and history, to where to find the best falafel (spoiler, there is no bad falafel in Israel!). We still have a few weeks to go in the unit and the kids can't wait to show off what they've learned!

Hebrew School Convocation

Saturday, May 18th, 9:00 am - 1:00 pm

Please join us as we celebrate the children's achievements this school year! Our students have worked hard and are excited to show you the prayers they've learned, the projects they've completed, and the values they've practiced. Students will be on the bimah with Rabba Kaya to help lead the service. Please stay for a catered kiddush luncheon afterwards.

We're Hiring Teachers!

Do you have a passion for Judaism and fun? Our Hebrew School is seeking additional staff for the 2024-25 school year!

We're looking for enthusiastic people excited about working with children and making their Hebrew School experience something they'll remember for a lifetime. If this sounds like you or someone you know, call Erik Martin, Head of School at 603-436-5301, extension 14 or email him, headofschool@templeisraelnh.org. He wants to talk to you!

Purim under the Big Top

Thanks to all who attended Purim under the Big Top, this year's circus-themed carnival. With games, prizes, hotdogs, hamantaschen, cotton candy, and more, everyone had a great time as we celebrated Esther's heroism in the face of Haman (boooooo!).

The magic show after the carnival was a hit with young and old. We even made some new feathered friends making an "appearance" at the show. Be sure to watch for upcoming family programs. We look forward to seeing you at them!

● Purim: costumed revelry & hamantaschen!

Miss Ashley from Mr. Fox Composting visited to teach us more about composting. Students proudly showed her our class compost area and the bin of wriggly worms that we feed every day.

We have two spots open in next year's class and are accepting registrations. Tell your friends!

A note from Dan Hastie

To the members, both past and present, volunteers, and staff of Temple Israel,

I would like to thank you all for the generous gifts you have given me and Jeannie at a time like this. Our hearts have been very touched.

Through the years, I have taken much pride in maintaining this historic building and it has been an honor to have been a part of the history of Temple Israel. Hopefully, I have left it in a better place.

All the people I have met over these years make it a special place. (Well, maybe not ALL the people, LOL).

Again, I thank you all. I'm not gone yet, so I will still be volunteering my time when needed for maintenance.

Peace and love to all, shalom,

Dan

Nominating Committee

by Amy Borne, Financial Secretary

The Nominating Committee is looking to fill two director positions and the role of financial secretary on the Temple Israel Board.

Serving on the temple board is a great way to get involved, meet some fabulous people, and make sure your voice is heard. As a board member, you will work with other dedicated volunteers to maintain and improve many aspects of Temple Israel as well as to help strategically plan for its future.

The two director roles are for 3-year terms. Directors generally act as a liaison with one or more committees. Those who are elected to fill these positions will begin their terms after they are voted into office at the Annual Meeting on Monday, May 20, 2024. The financial secretary serves a 2-year term, serving as a member of the Executive Committee and joining the treasurer on the Financial Oversight Committee. Congregants must be Temple Israel members for at least one year to serve on the board. If you are interested in serving on the board and would like more information about a specific role, or if you would like to suggest a candidate, please contact Nominating Committee Chair Rich LeSavoy via email at Treasurer@templeisraelnh.org. Thank you.

Tikkun Olam Committee

by Shelley Hartz, Chair

Tikkun olam means to repair the world, a concept familiar to us at Temple Israel. For many Jews in our community and across the United States, tikkun olam is an integral part of their Jewish identity. Many Temple Israel members choose to take action through small acts of kindness that make a big difference to families in the Seacoast and beyond.

Shelley Hartz

I am returning to my home in Dover on a cold rainy night after driving Erlande and Rolainde, two Haitian immigrants who have settled in Dover, to their cleaning job in Portsmouth. Although I don't speak French or Haitian Creole we have managed to communicate in a few known English words and hand motions. And while the language is at times difficult to convey, the laughter is not.

As I drive home, I consider how lucky I am to be a part of an interfaith team that is easing Erlande and Rolainde's transition to a safer and more stable life in Dover. Why am I telling you this? I am hoping there are members of the Temple Israel family who would like to help.

Drivers are needed Monday through Friday - 10 times a week. Both women live on Uncommon Drive in Dover and are dropped off at 230 Commerce Way, Portsmouth. Pick up is in Dover right off exit 7 at 5:15/5:30 and at 10 pm on Commerce Way.

Such a small act of kindness has a great impact on the life of these two women. If you think you might like to give this a try, please contact Jeremiah Dickinson at dacha@comcast.net. Jeremiah will send you

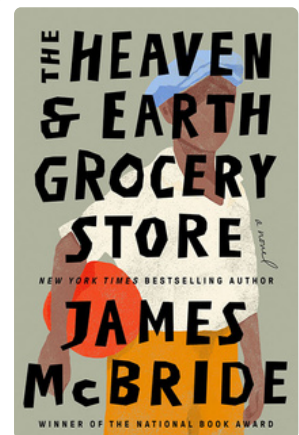

We are commanded on Purim to provide food for the poor, a mitzvah we fulfilled by holding a food drive. We collected 9 bags and 2 boxes full of non-perishable foods. Thanks to all who contributed!

the link to SignUpGenius which is used to coordinate drivers with rides needed. Drivers choose what days and times work for their schedule. There is no minimum or maximum! The commitment is as simple as clicking on the link and giving up an hour of your time. New ride needs are posted each Friday for the following week. Please don't hesitate to reach out to me, TikkunOlam@templeisraelnh.org, if you have questions, or if you might be interested in getting more involved with the family.

TIP Book Club

The Book Club will meet at 12:00 pm on Thursday, April 18, to discuss The Heaven & Earth Grocery Store, by James McBride. From the author's website: "From the author of the bestselling Oprah's Book Club pick Deacon King Kong and the National Book Award-winning The Good Lord Bird, comes a novel about small-town secrets and the people who keep them. This includes the residents of Chicken Hill, the dilapidated neighborhood where immigrant Jews and African Americans lived side by side and shared their ambitions and sorrows."

Arts Review Team

by Deborah Levine

A Tribute to Music

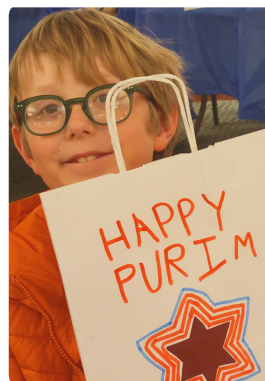

The Reception/Walk-through was held after services on March 22 for artists Tom Glover and Paul Burke. Viewers' questions evoked interesting anecdotes about the artists' inspirations. We learned about Tom's early influences, such as his father's love of jazz and swing. Also, we discovered Paul's knowledge of sacred geometry and his depiction of shapes we could recognize in his work, including the Star of David. A participant said that looking at the exhibit, he felt like he could "hear" music coming from the vivid colors and compositions. Work will be displayed until the end of June.

As Passover approaches and the horror of war in Gaza continues, we may be searching for rays of hope to transcend a feeling of dread or powerlessness. The Arts Review Team is proposing small actions that we can take with the approach of a weeklong online auction with an "in-person" silent auction on Sunday, June 23, in the Social Hall. We are hoping to be joined by other local faith communities to co-sponsor this hybrid auction - "Interfaith Bidding for Peace." Proceeds will go to two grassroots non-profits that involve face-to-face interactions between Palestinians and Israelis in the interest of building bridges and promoting peace - "The Family Forum" and "Oasis of Peace."

Volunteers are needed to help with this project:

- Planning & digital assistance
- Artwork donations (from artists who have exhibited at Temple Israel or from personal collections)
- Gift certificates/services from Seacoast businesses
- Gifts of time and energy such as babysitting and lawncare.

Please email ArtsReview@templeisraelnh.org or contact the temple office to get involved!

What a joy it was to facilitate craft time with our Hebrew School students prior to Purim! They decorated 30 Shalach Manot gift bags going to elders and homebound congregants. The creativity of these young artists was only matched by their pride in doing a mitzvah.
